Get involved with local projects, places, and organizations that are making the shift towards a regenerative, more permanent human culture (perma-culture) on Earth through education, community building, and action.

More Gardens
NYC Gardeners, artists, and environmental and social justice activists working together to develop and maintain community gardens throughout the city.
moregardens.org/

596 Acres
Use online interactive neighborhood maps and instructive resources to organize with neighbors and take over and grow community gardens on undeveloped land in NYC.
596acres.org

Just Food
Just Food provides basic culinary and urban agriculture training and education to community members to help them launch projects like farmers’ markets and CSAs; CSA available!
justfood.org/

NYC Compost Project
Compost-related workshops and classes, urban farm partnerships, neighborhood-based food scrap drop-off and composting sites in all five boroughs.

Permaculture Center for Bio Regional Living
Teaching NYC residents in urban permaculture courses on sites in all five city boroughs; large farm site outside the city offers intensive PDC course.
homebiome.com/

Common Good City Farm
Hands-on training on an urban farm site in food production, healthy eating & environmental sustainability. Farming & food access program, compost drop off, farm stand & herbalism apprenticeships.
commongoodcityfarm.org/

Brooklyn Grange
New York’s leading urban farm education center, with 2.5 acres of rooftop vegetable farms on two sites. Refugee and immigrant urban ag. training program, children’s education, and special classes on urban agriculture and beekeeping!
brooklyngrangefarm.com/

Black Urban Gardeners
A network and community for African-American agriculturalists in both urban and rural settings. Nurturing leadership and connection through education and advocacy around food, health, and farming.
blackurbangrowers.org/

Permaculture Meetups!
Want to get your hands dirty and learn something new? Be sure to check out the City Farming NYC, Brooklyn Permaculture, New York City Permaculture, and Park Slope Permaculture on Meetup.com to network with sustainable permie gardeners near you.
meetup.com

---

Educational Opportunities  CSA Produce Delivery  Volunteer Opportunities

www.PermacultureAction.org | facebook.com/permacultureaction